ecare india Pvt Ltd, the leading medical billing company gets ISO 9001:2008 and ISO 27001:2005 certification:

May 11, 2010 Chennai, India

ecare India, a Premier Healthcare outsourcing company that focuses on medical billing and coding services to healthcare industry announced that it has been certified with ISO 27001:2005 for information security management. In fact, ecare India the first Indian Medical Billing company to get certified under ISO 27001:2005 at the time of certification in July 2009.

Conforming to the ISO guidelines, ecare India is committed and continuously thrives to provide high levels of efficiency and quality service to its customers. As part of the compliance, an internal audit team conducts regular internal audits to identify any non-conformity in procedures or documentation. These internal audits are meant to identify errors in processes or procedures thus helps company to continuously monitor our performance and make the best decision.

Commenting on the Benefits which ecare can leverage to its customers, Deepak Sanghi, MD, ecare India said "We have always been pro-active in addressing the needs of our Clients. As security and handling of data being sent offshore for processing is a major concern and point of discussion in the US, ecare's ISO 27001 certification addresses this concern and provides greater confidence to the companies in the US to do business with us"

Earlier Company was certified with ISO9001:2005 which also has been renewed with ISO 9001: 2008 certification later last year, which is the most established quality framework and benchmark for Quality management System.

About ISO and ISO Certification:

International Standards Organization (ISO) is an institution recognized worldwide as an authority for quality management. ISO seeks to establish standards for quality and organization of information and management systems. It outlines a process approach for implementing a quality management system and lays down the good management practices. With an aim to enable businesses to transact globally, it helps to standardize the way businesses are run and ensures all the requirements in processes and systems are met.

ISO 9001 is one of the most established quality frameworks worldwide and sets the standard for quality management systems. It helps organization to identify the best processes for delivering quality services to customers and helps in improving the way organizations are operated and managed.

These standards provide good practice guidance on designing, implementing and auditing Information Security Management Systems to protect the confidentiality, integrity and availability of information. It is designed to ensure the selection of adequate and proportionate security controls that protect information assets and give confidence to interested parties. The Information Security Systems are reviewed and monitored on an on-going basis to ensure continual good practices.
